Mountain Pepperberries Flavour – whole dried

Try something wild & mix some ground pepperberries through your vanilla ice-cream for a mint like flavour. Great on fish & meat or otherwise just use every day in your pepper grinder. These berries are from Tasmania's native pepper, the Tasmania lanceolata, which is a shrub of up to 5m with dark green leaves & crimson young stems. It lives in cool wet areas at sea level & up into the alpine regions.

Lemon Myrtle Flavour - ground

Fantastic with fish & seafood dishes. Marvellous with white meats such as chicken, emu & pork. Adds a great lemony zest to vegies & in stir-fries.

Cakes, sweets & drinks can also showcase this beauty. This herb is the leaf of a beautiful glossy dark green rainforest tree, the Backhousia citriodora that produces masses of small white highly fragranced flowers usually after it has rained & it is hot & steamy.

Emu Oil Lemon Myrtle Hand Cream

Sooth dry skin with this beautiful cream or just use every day. This hard working hand cream contains 60% emu oil & is fragranced with the essential oils of sandalwood, rosewood patchouli and the refreshing Australian favourite lemon myrtle (Backhousia citriodora).

Australian Native Basil Flavour – ground

Spice up your roasts & soups with this herb. It is also superb just thrown into your omelettes, quiches & potato salads. If you are thinking about something different for your fish, give this herb a go.

This herb is the handpicked leaf, & sometimes also stem, of a small shrub, the Ocimum tenuiflorum, which is difficult to grow, has woody, branching stems with spear shaped leaves & tiny purple or white flowers in late winter & spring.

Native Australian Mint Flavour – ground

Spice up your meats using this gem. It is well suited to any minces, especially roo. Combine with Boofanugs' Sun Dried Desert Tomato Flavour then coat your meat, wrap with prosciutto or bacon & cook. For a taste teaser, it can also be used in your home made biscuits & scones. This herb is the leaf of a beautiful little shrub, the Prostanthera incisa, which has delicate, leaves, gorgeous tiny lilac flowers & a pungent aroma.

Wattleseed Flavour – roasted & ground

Wow – what a versatile flavour! Like a mocha hazelnut, the seed of the elegant wattle (Acacia vitoriae) has been roasted and ground and can be stirred through ice cream, used in cakes, bread, biscuits & pastries or as a coffee substitute. To best release the flavour in baking, soak in a little warm milk or boiled water first. Use sparingly in similar quantities to the traditional cinnamon spice.

Refreshing Rainforest Bath Salts

Imagine floating in a crystal clear pool surrounded by a leafy green Queensland rainforest. A teaspoon or three of these bath salts sprinkled into your bath will bring the smells of the rainforest alive. You will be left feeling refreshed & rejuvenated.

Revitalising Anisata Foot Milk

Sooth & revitalise your tired feet after a hard day. Sprinkle a teaspoon or three of this foot milk into your foot spa or simply a bucket of warm water. Soak away your worries and leave your feet feeling soft and smelling great.

Boronia Fragrant Oil

Sweeten up your home or room by using a few drops in water in your oil burner or vaporiser. The Australian natives of the Boronia family are a delicate shrub that produce small aromatic flowers ranging from pinks through to yellows.

All prices include GST of up to 10% & exclude freight

Pepperberry Cabernet Jelly Paste

Savour the flavour of Australia's mountain pepper berry (Tasmania lanceolata) combined with cabernet wine. This alcohol free versatile jelly paste is the perfect accompaniment on crispbread to a cheese platter, as a jelly paste on toast or with emu or your roast turkey.

Outback Gravel (100% Australian native dukkah)

Dazzle your friends with this exquisite savoury blend of Australian macadamia nuts (Macadamia integrifolia) and Boofanugs' own secret special blend of Australian native herbs & spices. It may look like outback gravel, but is sensational when combined with a good crusty bread dipped into a clean light oil such as Boofanugs' Lemon Myrtle Infused Macadamia Oil. This outback gravel is also great as a "rub", flavour mix & in stuffing.

Desert Tomato Pasta Sauce

Toss out the plain old tomato sauce & use this one at your next BBO instead. It may be a little bit gluggier but won't drip all over the place. Or you can just use it as it is meant to be used, as a great pasta sauce. It's especially enjoyable when combined with Boofanugs' Mountain Pepper Organic Pasta. Handmade featuring the sun dried desert tomato, Solanum centrale, & highlighted by a combination of other Australian native herbs.

Riberry Jam

Start your day with a good dollop of riberry jam on your favourite toast or muffin. Try something a little different & use as a meat accompaniment or in a marinade mix. Whatever you do with it, this jam handmade from the fruit of the glossy leaved Syzygium leuhmannii will be a hit.

Lemon Myrtle Chardonnay Jelly Paste

Pick out the lemon myrtle (Backhousia citriodora) undertones through the chardonnay wine. This alcohol free jelly paste is ideal partnered with a plain cracker on a soft cheese platter.

All prices include GST of up to 10% & exclude freight

The, Hymenosporum flavum is a beautiful rainforest tree with glossy dark green leaves and frangipani-like flowers ranging in colour from whitish cream to deep yellow.
